Description

LOCATION: 50 m from the beach, 200 m south of the large moray eel reef. Diving depths: 8–25 m.

UNDERWATER LANDSCAPE: Reef edges richly covered with marine life at various depths, featuring overhangs and small rock crevices.

FISH POPULATION: In contrast to the large moray eel reef, the small one stands out particularly for its vegetation and abundance of small marine life: anemones, cylinder corals, whip and sponge corals, colorful sea skippers, monkfish and trumpetfish, and schools of sardines.
